

amy eng

amy.eng@gmail.com 312.391.4155
amyengstudio.com

Hello,

My name is Amy. I was excited to see your posting for a Junior Graphic Designer position on coroflot.com and I think i would be a good fit for your team.

As a freelance designer I'm accustomed to working across a variety of functions ranging from production, design and layout; to motion design and animation; to creating original artwork and illustrations — both digital and traditional. Past projects include work in traditional print based media as well as across a variety of digital touchpoints—email newsletters, presentations and slideware, and social content. I'm a self starter and problem solver at heart and am always eager to roll up my sleeves to facing new challenges.

BrainPop's approach to education was something that I found to be super compelling. As a trainer at Apple, a foundational principle we employed in assisting our customers was to promote curiosity and self discovery. BrainPOPs interactive learning tools appear to also be centered in these principles.

Thanks in advance for your time and consideration. I've attached my resume for your review. Additionally, samples of my work can be found at amyengstudio.com. I'm looking forward to hearing from you.

Sincerely,

A handwritten signature in black ink that reads "Amy Eng". The signature is written in a cursive, flowing style.

